

Interested in a specialty and what it might be like?

Wondered how to venture into a specialty - Applying for training programs, positions, exams or research?

The Lismore Regional Training Hub in collaboration with the University Centre for Rural Health, would like to invite Junior Medical Officers and Medical Students to an informative session where you will hear from the perspective of specialists and have the chance to explore your area of interest with the specialists and registrars.

The Lismore Regional Training Hub invites you to
